THREE SLATES FILE FOR PRES - VP RACE

Three teams will be running for the positions of student president and vice president in the Student Government executive elections, April 4, 5 and 6.

The slates are:

Dan Haley, president, a 20 year-old sophomore majoring in business management, and Randy Whiting, vice president, 19, a sophomore also majoring in business. Their campaign manager is Steve Evans.

Rusty Schwartze, president, a 26 year-old business senior, and Tom McCormick, vice president, a 22 year-old senior majoring in political science. Lou Hennies is the campaign manager.

Dave Parker, president, a 30 year-old business major in CCS, and Kristin Grady, vice president, a 20 year-old, sophomore majoring in English and Journalism. Jim Grundy is campaign manager.

More information on the candidates' stands on the election issues will be included in the Friday paper.

Mexico City Trip Planned Activities Budgeting Begins

By Kathleen Williams

Attention adventurous, inquisitive, and fun-loving students, faculty and staff. The trip you all have been awaiting is NOW reality.

The wonders of MEXICO will open up for interested persons May 21 to June 7.

Student Activities Advisor, Jim Meyer is organizing the excursion in addition to the optional three-hour credit courses being offered with the trip.

The round-trip United Airlines charter flight will depart from Omaha and arrive in Mexico City. The plane has a capacity of 149 persons, and will cost only $165 for the round-trip.

After touring Mexico City for four days, the three individual classes will organize and set out to research their specific area of interest.

The courses offered deal with various areas of Mexican history, geography and society. They are open to second semester freshmen and above, or by permission.

Professors Kane and Weaver of the UNO Criminal Justice Department are teaching a class entitled Comparative Criminological Systems of Mexico. The class hopes to visit a Mexican penal institution.

Central Mexico: Cultural Languages of Past and Present is the second course offered. Professor Charles Gildersleeve plans to travel quite extensively while exploring the new emerging industrial lands in three various areas of central Mexico.

A foreign language course taught by Professor Gloria Downing is the last class offered. The course, Central Mexico: Past Present Heritage, will explore and study the cultural landscapes of Central Mexico.

The deadline for signing up for the trip is April 16. A $50 deposit is also due at this time. The Mexico trip is open to all faculty, staff, and currently enrolled students of UNO, UNL, and UNMC and their immediate families.

Total cost of the trip will be around $475. This includes air fare, hotel room (two per room) and one of the three credit hour classes. Of course excursionists will want to include spending money.

Anyone interested in the Mexico trip should contact Jim Meyer in the Student Activities Office, MBSC 250. If unable to reach him there, call extension 382.

Since seating capacity is limited, it is strongly recommended that interested persons sign up as soon as possible.

Amidst the flyers, posters and speeches of student elections, Student Treasurer Bill Maddox quietly lays the groundwork for the student activities budget the new Senate will approve the first meetings of their term.

It is Maddox's duty, as Student Treasurer and chairman of the Student Activities Budget Commission (SABC), to organize, review, and set up SABC hearings for the 31 requestors.

The first of these hearings took place last Thursday. Four established budgets were considered and representatives from those groups were present either personally or by memorandum to present rationale for their requests. They were Athletics, Women's Recreation Association (WRA), KVNO-FM, and the Maverick yearbook.

Two new budgets were also discussed: Town Hall and the Academic Resource Center.

Athletic Director Clyde Biggers brought with him eight pages of reasons for spending student money on grants for intercollegiate athletics.

SABC member Kim Schlitz argued briefly with Biggers about present attempts by the Athletic Department to upgrade the program at UNO, "since we cannot compete with Lincoln."

Biggers, who has heard this argument often, denied the necessity of competing with UNL.

This year, Athletics receives $47,000 of student fee money for grants. Biggers is requesting $55,000 for next year, an increase of about 13%. Usually, only a maximum 5% increase is allowed for any group.

WRA is requesting an 8% increase, from $3,100 to $3375. This amount would cover all women's and co-ed intramurals, and some money to defray expenses for the limited women's intercollegiate sports.

This compares with $6,000 spent for men's intramurals alone this year.

KVNO-FM is requesting $16,314 to expand its schedule to 12 hours a day, seven days a week. This year KVNO-FM was allocated $12,564 for an eight hour, six days a week format. This represents a possible increase of 28%.

Maverick editor, Shelley Roderique, represented the yearbook. Last Spring, in a dither over whether or not there should be a yearbook, the Student Senate allowed $16,000 at the last minute to be used for the project.

Ms. Roderique is requesting a $2,492 increase to allow for a 96-page increase in number of pages and 16 pages of color photos.

The Academic Resources Center, a new budget, would cover a paid director on a part-time basis for $1,800, handle teacher evaluation, and manage the book exchange, free university, tutorial programs and lecture notes.

The total Academic Resources Center budget as proposed is $6,400. Many of the projects that would be handled by the Center were sponsored and administered by Student Government this year and would thus be dropped from its domain.

The Town Hall budget calls for $2,000 for a co-operative kitchen for the UNO students who live in the Town Hall at the Prom Town House. The request also asks for $1,500 for implementation of recreation areas within the complex.

Next year, the UNO Business Office is projecting $254,942 in student fees. This is about the same as last year.

One Man Shows

Mark Emmons, a frequent visitor to the Omaha area, will present "Seven One Man Shows in Repertory" in the New Performing Arts Center Concert Hall at UNO.

Emmons, based in New York, has toured nationally and recently appeared at the Joslyn Art Museum as Mark Twain.

He is returning with an expanded repertoire which includes Mark Twain, Dorothy Parker, W. Somerset Maugham, Gertrude Stein, "Krapp's Last Tape" by Beckett, Jean Cocteau, and a special finale, "the real trash good friday concert."

Mark Emmons will appear:
March 22 — 8:30 p.m. as Mark Twain.
March 23 — 8:30 p.m. as Dorothy Parker.
March 24 — 8:30 p.m. as W. Somerset Maugham.
April 4 — 8:30 p.m. as Gertrude Stein.
April 5 — 9:00 p.m. as Krapp's Last Tape (Beckett).
April 10 — 8:00 p.m. as Repeat Twain Show.
April 11 — 8:00 p.m. as Repeat Parker Show.
April 12 — 8:00 p.m. as Repeat Parker Show.
April 19 — 9:00 p.m. as Jean Cocteau.
April 20 — 9:00 p.m. as Concert Show (Finale).

"Mark Emmons as Mark Twain" is the first presentation and will be performed Thursday, March 22, 8:30 p.m.

Mark Twain was a tragic figure in America's literary history and the performance reflects Twain's bittersweet attitudes towards people and life. Late in his career Twain faced financial difficulties and was forced to go on lecture tours. He traveled world wide and was called by Andrew Carnegie, "the most conspicuous man on the planet." Mark Emmons' presentation is based on these lecture tours and Twain's later autobiographical writings.

Admission with UNO I.D. is $1.00 for each performance, and $3.50 for the general public. Tickets are available at the MBSC Information desk and at the downtown Brandeis. Season tickets for all seven shows are $15.00 for the public.

Caricature by Cesare.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Engle

Engle Duo at Workshop

The UNO-Community Writer's Workshop will sponsor a free, public lecture by Paul and Hua-ling Nieh Engle tonight, March 21, at 8:00 p.m. in the Student Center Ballroom. The subject of the Engles' presentation is the poetry of Mao Tse-Tung.

The lecture will feature readings in Chinese and English translation of Mao's poems and a discussion of the period of political-military struggle in China during the 1920's and 30's, the background and subject for most of the poems.

Paul Engle, recently appointed distinguished adjunct professor of creative writing in the UNO School of Fine Arts, is presently working as a consultant to the UNO-Community Writer's Workshop. He is also director of the International Writing Program at the University of Iowa.

Founder of the "writer's workshop" concept, Engle has written 11 books of verse, a novel and a libretto for an opera produced on television's Hallmark Hall of Fame. His writings have appeared in The New Yorker, Atlantic Monthly, Saturday Review, Life, Kenyon Review, and The New York Times.

Hua-ling Nieh Engle is head of the Department of East Asian Languages at the University of Iowa, and is associate director of the International Writing Program there.

Born in Hupel, China, Hua-ling was forced to flee mainland China to Taiwan during the Communist take-over in the 1940's. There she became the literary editor of Free China magazine and later a teacher of creative writing at Taiwan University, instituting the first program of its kind in China.

Ms. Engle has published 12 books, including three novels, two collections short stories, a book of essays, and numerous translations.

Services Need to Be Used

It's been about a year since the Space Utilization Committee first met to discuss uses for the Student Center area once occupied by the bookstore. The committee had one predominate goal: to plan functions that would best serve a variety of student needs and activities.

The space was planned carefully. Over the last year, the remodeling has shaped the general concept of those plans. Yet, one thing the committee had envisioned has not materialized. The walls, windows, carpet and doors are all in place, but the missing element isn't a structure or a product of the work itself. It's human. What the space needs now is people, people to use the space.

Starting with the first service to settle in the new area and working up to the newest, this will be a brief sketch of what the majority of UNO students are missing.

A greatly expanded typing room allows several students to type at the same time without having the carriage of one machine crash into the person working at the next machine. There's plenty of space, plenty of good, clean typewriters, and plenty of ink on the ribbons. This type of room comes in handy around term paper time.

Next to open was a non-profit record shop appropriately named, "Record Shop." Inside is a wide selection of rock, soul, jazz, and folk music at prices up to $2.00 less than the place where you usually buy records or tapes.

The continued existence of the store depends on student support. A bonus of a non-profit operation like the Record Shop is that the more sales, the lower the prices can be, and they're already lower than most places in town.

The Electric Window Video Center opened shortly after. This service is an experiment unique in this part of the country. The Window checks out portable video tape equipment to any student for any purpose. It's an experiment in totally free use of equipment and totally free application of individual expression.

The real world would charge $75 a day and censure what you taped. Not the Electric Window. You can take the equipment out, learn about yourself and others, and immediately play the tape back on your own TV. Sight and sound, and it's free.

The Academic Programming Center and Orientation Office is behind the Record Shop. The work there is compiling Teacher Evaluations and organizing a new orientation program. They'll be working on a number of academically related concerns for all of us. If anyone wanted to help with their projects, there's a good chance they could find something to do.

The Veteran Affairs Office is around the corner from the Electric Window. The office has information and advice for any student veteran running into red tape. They also know of several vet benefits that some veterans may be eligible for, but are unaware of. This service doesn't cost anything either.

The latest service is the large general office area for all campus organizations. The glass-enclosed office houses several desks, individually locking files, a phone, typewriters, and adjoining conference rooms.

A secretary-receptionist is waiting to be of service from 8:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. The office is a UNO home base for any organization to help them become more established and active in the university. Cost? It's as free as the rest.

The TV-Lounge Area is a comfortable place to watch TV, play cards, or sit and talk. A music listening lounge is yet to open. It should be available soon for stereo listening or guitar picking.

Each of the services established in the new area have one thing in common, something to offer to you. They're trying to make the university a place that offers more than just classes and parking problems.

The Space Utilization Committee found ways to allocate the area. It's up to you to utilize the space.

Senate Internal

Dear Sir:

After attending the March 15 Student Senate meeting, I was left with the distinct impression of selfish children trying to play at being adults with little success.

The first important business concerned limiting expenditures by Senate candidates (particularly for Gateway advertising) to prevent crass campaign inequalities between political foes. It was soon apparent that the difference between plutocracy and democracy was unknown to the senators as figures spiraled beyond the five-hundred dollar mark.

When the senate finally reached the central issue of the legitimacy of recent changes in the election filing and polling deadlines, Lord of the Flies was re-enacted.

The filing deadline was obviously invalid; it was returned to the original March 13 date later in the meeting after about five minutes of debate. Though it should have been enough to reinstate the original deadline and let it go at that, the senate childishly sought a scapegoat to save face.

The first choice was Gateway editor Greg Knudsen. Mr. Knudsen was accused of trying to throw the election by printing false deadlines, despite the fact that he had no vested interests in the election outcome and that he based his deadline publications on information exchanged between election commissioner Carol Strother and Gateway Assistant Editor Carol Schrader. Mr. Knudsen's only offense was that he tried to print factual information in the face of cyclonic confusion.

When no satisfaction was received from attacking Mr. Knudsen, the attack was directed at J. C. Casper, the speaker of the Senate. An attempt was made to oust him as speaker and disgrace his active and enthusiastic interest in Student Government.

What offense had he committed? He was the chairman of the executive committee whose actions had lead to the deadline changes. He had tried to move swiftly under circumstances discouraging to the most determined individual.

He tried to reestablish the validity and fairness of an election already jeopardized by bungled deadline announcements. For this, he was skewered on the spit of a no confidence vote and roasted over the fires of parliamentary procedure. Admittedly, J.C.'s actions have not always been beyond reproach, but to paraphrase one senator's remarks, if you cut the head of a stinking fish, the remains still stink.

The highlight of the evening arrived when one of the female senators pleaded for some senate concern for student affairs, instead of only internal politics. Indeed, during the 4½ hour meeting, perhaps 30 minutes had been devoted to anything vaguely related to student oriented issues.

UNO's Student Government is in desperate need of strong, purposeful leadership. Maybe the upcoming elections (if the dates remain unchanged) will allow the opportunity to establish responsive Student Government.

Sincerely,
Dan Haley
Randy Whiting

Holdrege St., Lincoln, Ne. 68504, or a representative of your campus on the committee.

Italian Trip

One UNO student will be going to Italy on an Ambassador Scholarship with the Experiment in International Living this summer. It could be you.

If you missed both of the informational meetings, but still want to find out what the Experiment is about and how to apply for the trip to Italy, contact Greg Knudsen in Eng. 116, or 553-4700 ext. 470-71, from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

SPO Board

Do you think you know what people like? Are you one of those few people on campus that has taste?

The Student Programming Organization (SPO) is taking applications for board members in room 250, MBSC. The deadline for applying is Friday the 13th of April by 4:30 p.m. It could be your lucky day.

YD Lunch

The UNO Young Democrats have invited a few candidates to lunch today in the MBSC new cafeteria. On hand for the 12:30 p.m. feast will be city council candidates John Miller, Larry Holcomb, and Steve Rosenblatt.

Anyone who wants to join them is invited to pull up a chair. After lunch, the YD's will give their guests a tour of the campus.

IEEE

IEEE will be meeting Thur., March 22 in Eng. 159 to discuss "Energy Crisis-Problems and Solutions." Terry Bachman will present the subject.

Anyone interested can contact George Sinos, ext. 497.

Cheers

Cheerleading tryout practices are scheduled for the next three weeks. Any peppy "athletic supporter" can try out if a few simple qualifications are met: 1) Attend two practices; 2) Have attended UNO for one semester; 3) Register as a full time student in the fall.

Practices will be held from 5:00 p.m.-7:00 TODAY and Friday, March 23. Practices will be from 2:00 p.m.-4:00 p.m. on Monday, March 26, Wednesday, March 28, and Friday, March 30.

April practices will be from 5:00 p.m.-7:00 p.m. on the 2nd, 4th, and 6th. All practices are in the Women's QH.

Cheerleading tryouts will be Saturday, April 7, at 9:30 a.m. in the Women's QH. Questions? Call Robin McNutt — 331-4257.

Foreign Dinner

A culture sharing dinner will be held April 13 in MBSC Ballroom.

The UNO International Student Organization is holding the dinner which will begin at 6:30 p.m.

Tickets must be obtained by March 26 at the Information Desk in the Student Center, and will cost $4.00 per dinner.

The ballroom will be decorated with articles from various countries belonging to UNO's international students.

THE NEW 1972-73 GRAIN OF SAND LITERARY-ANTHOLOGY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA AT OMAHA IS COMING OUT SOON. A LIMITED EDITION OF 1,000 COLLECTORS COPIES IS BEING PRINTED.

The publication will be out in early May. The cost per copy, including mailing is one dollar. LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way! It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to Information Sources Co., P.O. Box 231, Dept. ST, Carpinteria, Calif. 93013. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

REPRESENTATIVE WANTED

We're looking for part-time help to promote the campus market for film developing.

Our rep will distribute promotional materials, posters, "free" processing coupons, etc. No photo experience necessary.

Are reading assignments a problem this year?

THESE SKILLS WILL HELP YOUR STUDIES

RAPID READING . . . In Reading Dynamics you learn to read faster naturally — without mechanical devices and without losing the enjoyment or flavor of reading. Nor do you skim or skip. You triple your present rate by taking in entire thoughts at one time.

FLEXIBILITY . . . You learn to adjust your reading speed according to the difficulty of the material, your background in the material, and your purpose in reading the material. Different techniques are taught for novels, texts, journals, newspapers, magazines, etc.

CONCENTRATION . . . Concentration while reading and studying is very difficult for many people who read slowly. Rapid reading requires close attention, and concentration quickly improves so that students are not easily distracted.

COMPREHENSION . . . As concentration increases, comprehension improves. In addition, you learn to read expectantly for the author's concepts to which important facts and details may be attached. The result is greater depth of comprehension.

RETENTION . . . A very important measure of your reading ability is how much you remember. Retention is improved by reading for concepts, by using recall patterns, by maintaining a high level of concentration, and by remembering by association.

ORGANIZATION . . . The first vital step in studying is organization. We teach the student how to organize and use varied texts, supplements, suggested readings and class notes.

CONCISE NOTE TAKING . . . Recall techniques organize a conference or lecture as it occurs, eliminating voluminous notes and reorganizing. Recall patterns are especially valuable if the presentation is not concise and if your mind wanders.

SUPPLEMENTAL READING . . . Many people limit their education because they barely have time for required reading. Being able to read widely adds interest and depth to your understanding.

INDEPENDENT STUDY AND RESEARCH . . . The real reward of education is the accumulation of knowledge. Our techniques allow you to continue your education at your own pace.

A Lifetime Reading and Study Program

After completing the basic course, you continue to attend weekly practice sessions as often as you wish without cost.

Students bring their homework to the sessions and get a head start on each week's school assignments.

Businessmen bring their "in-boxes" and periodical reading and get some of their work out of the way.

Many people work on their Independent Study Projects.

Others attend these sessions for the pure enjoyment of reading new books and discussing the author's ideas with members of the class.

Special counseling is available where necessary.

These sessions provide a stimulating environment which will help you discover your potential for learning.

Find out why we have over 500,000 graduates Attend a FREE one-hour MINI-LESSON

The best way to find out what the course is all about is to attend an hour-long mini-lesson. The mini-lesson will introduce you to our classroom procedures. It'll show you how we extend your memory and recall. It'll give you a glimpse of our sessions on new study techniques. You might even leave the mini-lesson reading faster than when you came in.

Cherie Kipple Adds Unorthodoxy to Libbers

By Kristin Grady

Cherie Kipple, president of the National Organization for Women in Omaha has brought a touch of unorthodoxy to the feminist movement.

She directs NOW activities from a three-room attic apartment strewn with pamphlets, posters and paraphernalia dealing with women's rights.

She's a self-proclaimed liberationist who doesn't hesitate to ask guys out on dates or say what she thinks even when not asked. That doesn't mean, however, that she's a "frazzled, ugly, man-hater with no bra," according to Ms. Kipple, "We're just normal people."

Since her January election as president of the Omaha women's group, Sherry has taken to task Brandeis, the phone company, KFAB, KOIL, and WOW for their sexist policies.

Next year she plans to start a citizens lobby against the phone company for "ripping off the American people" with their "outrageous rates for ads and phone bills." She also plans to "jab, jab, jab" at them until they pay up to five million dollars in back pay to their women employees. The phone company has already paid $33 million to balance the difference in wages of their men and women employees in the same job positions in past years.

"The nicest thing the phone company has ever done for me," said Ms. Kipple, "is taking out my phone." She was getting calls at all hours of the day and night from women complaining of discrimination in jobs and divorces.

Of Sherry's many interests, women in broadcasting concerns her the most. "80% of all jobs in broadcasting that women hold are in traffic and continuity," she said, "There are very few women on the air."

"Every woman at KFAB except one, is in a clerical position," she continued, "At KOIL they told me a woman's larynx won't hold up under a full time air shift." Since station licences are up for renewal in 1974, NOW members hope to have enough research compiled to challenge the licenses of those stations discriminating against women.

The ERA ratification was NOW's primary goal for this year. The organization sponsored a petition and letter writing drive, and attended the hearings. Ms. Kipple believes the ERA is needed to "erase all the discriminatory laws on the books," which would benefit women economically.

"The gap has widened in pay for men and women in the last ten years," she said, "women not only earn less than men but the difference in earnings is bigger now than in the 1950's."

NOW also has task forces dealing with women in education, religion, politics, media, business, and industry. "Women are being exploited terribly," she said, "I can live in a poverty situation if I'm not working and it doesn't bother me; but there's no way I'll work and live in poverty."

Ms. Kipple doesn't believe she's a radical, but "a lot of people do, because I don't go along with the marriage and family concept." I don't think Americans are educated to the fact that there are other life styles — and you don't have to have children and a family."

She holds that men are "basically clods, If I can put down one man a day, I feel really good."

Yes, Ms. Kipple's been told she's a female chauvinist. "Men are stupid, but that doesn't mean they're not entertaining," she conceded. "The first time I wanted to take a guy out I had to look for two months to find anyone I wanted to spend $5.00 on."

"A lot of men can't take it," she continued, "They have to treat me like a person, and they're used to treating me as something to play with." She also believes women should take a more responsible role in society because "it's just not moral to go on letting men take so much responsibility for protecting this country." She said, "If women were incorporated into 50% of all governing areas, we wouldn't have the problems we do."

NOW is getting new members at the rate of ten a week, according to Ms. Kipple, and the present membership stands around 200. Many of them have been to college for four years only to find that all employers want is someone who can type. Others are housewives, career women, students, and even a few retired women.

Ms. Kipple believes NOW has a lot to offer women. "Everyday of your life you're being insulted and taken royally because you're a woman. If you don't do something you just get mad; but NOW gives you a chance to work off those energies in a constructive way."

UNO Chosen as Head Start Home

An assessment period begun Feb. 1 when the University of Nebraska at Omaha assumed administrative responsibility for the local Head Start program will culminate May 31 with presentation of recommendations at the regional Office of Child Development in Kansas City.

New Coordinator

Marvin McNeff, instructor in the UNO School of Public Affairs and Community Service and operations coordinator for Head Start, said discussions are underway regarding how the program might be expanded to serve more children, and how more services might be offered for handicapped children.

Dialogues are, or will be, taking place with parents of children in Head Start, with committees at the 18 Head Start centers in Omaha, and with members of the Head Start Policy Council, a 15-member organization of parents of children in Head Start, and persons elected by parents.

Developmental Services

Discussions concern whether or not changes should be made in the administration of the program, what mix of programs should be offered, and other topics. McNeff said some persons have suggested that the Head Start program be expanded to include Home Start (developmental services offered in children's homes) and Health Start (a program geared to aiding young children with nutrition and in other facets of physical and mental well-being).

The $631,003 in federal funds for the local Head Start program, for the period from Jan. 31, 1973, to Jan. 31, 1974, has been increased by $23,800, McNeff said. On March 8, UNO was notified that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Office of Child Development, had granted Omaha Head Start $10,000 for serving handicapped children, $8,000 for staff salary raises and program improvements, and $5,800 for purchase of supplies and equipment.

McNeff said UNO is negotiating contracts with all former Head Start delegate agencies, and this should be completed by the end of March.

Omaha Public Schools, which administers 13 of the 18 Head Start centers here, is the largest delegate agency involved. OPS receives federal funds totaling $360,000 to $380,000 annually for Head Start. McNeff said OPS will continue to receive these funds now, just the same as before Feb. 1, when Greater Omaha Community Action had administrative responsibility for the local Head Start program.

Head Start is an educational program to prepare children from parallel culture homes for entering the public schools. The Head Start program in Omaha involves about 650 children, all from three to five years old, from families which meet federal income guidelines. To have a child in Head Start, a family of four must have not more than $4,200 income per year. For a family of seven, the figure is $6,200.

All but one Omaha Head Start center offers for each child a 3½ hour session five days a week, for nine or ten months of the year. The program involves dramatic play, water play, creative arts, books and music. Head Start sessions usually run from 8:30 a.m. to noon, or from 1 or 1:30 to 4 p.m., weekdays.

Experimental College Courses Explored Under Federal Grant

An experimental television-based approach to providing college courses off campus is being explored under a $516,450 Federal grant to the University of Nebraska, HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger announced today.

Funded as a model for possible duplication elsewhere in the Nation, the project seeks to provide greater access to higher education for people throughout the entire State.

The grant will be used to plan an open university that will rely heavily on the State's nine-station educational television network. Radio broadcasts, videotapes, tape recordings, and printed materials will also be used for program dissemination.

The organization that will produce and field test the experimental courses for use in the open university is known as SUN (State University of Nebraska). Plans also call for the design of local resource centers to back up televised courses with tutorial, technical, and counseling services. Now being considered for the 1973-74 school year are courses in the arts, business, and the humanities, and physical, biological, and social sciences.

An unusual feature of the SUN project will be the use of market research to determine potential audience size and the course preferences of Nebraskans.

All higher education institutions in Nebraska will be invited to take part in the project. Courses validated during the experiment will be made available to other educational institutions.

A long-range goal of SUN is to regionalize the broadcast services, through relays and other devices, for use in other States.

Senate Elections

The elections for Student Senate will be held on April 18, 19, 20, 1973. Petitions may be picked up anytime after Wednesday, March 21, 1973 in the Student Government office, MBSC 232. Candidates who wish their names to appear on the ballots must file by 4:00 p.m., Wednesday, April 11, 1973 in the Student Government office.

All candidates must be attending the University of Nebraska at Omaha in good standing as defined by university regulations, must be registered for a minimum of five credit hours, and must be enrolled in the college or division they wish to represent. Class representatives may take office prior to the end of the semester but shall not be eligible to maintain office should they enter a class which they were not elected to represent.

More C. C. Home Ec Notes

Anyone interested may attend the Home Economics Club meeting with the residents of the Douglas County Old People's Home at 156th and Maple St., on Thursday, March 22 from 3:00 to 4:00 p.m. Transportation will be provided to and from UNO if needed.

Time of departure will be 2:30 p.m. from Admin. 101. There will be refreshments and a very interesting program, "Panarama Easter Egg Decorating." This is the perfect time to share a little of that "love" you have with people who need it! Hope to see you.

Home Economics majors, we also need volunteers for high school visitation programs; sign up in Admin. 101. You need not be a member of the Home Ec Club to participate. NHEA scholarship applications must be sent in by March 23.

Also, don't forget the Nebraska Home Economics

Associations Spring Convention is to be held on April 28 at the University of Lincoln.

School Board

Responsibilities of school board members, methods of financing public education and curriculum development will be among topics to be discussed during an Institute for School Board Members March 26-30, from 7 to 9:30 each night, at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Dr. Kirk E. Naylor, former UNO president and professor of educational administration at UNO, will direct the Institute. Dr. Darrell Kellams, professor and chairman, Department of Educational Administration and Supervision, worked with Dr. Naylor in preparing for the Institute.

Institute sponsors are the Department of Educational Administration, UNO College of Education, and the Division of Community Services, College of Continuing Studies.

J-Conference

Preliminaries are under way for the 1972-73 High School Journalism Conference April 25 at the University of Nebraska at Omaha.

Until Friday, March 23, the UNO Journalism Department will receive entries of materials published during the 1972-73 school year. The UNO journalism faculty then will judge these during spring break, March 24-April 2. The best entries will be printed in an awards publication to be distributed at the Conference.

High school publications advisers in this area each may submit a maximum of three entries. All work must be by students.

Areas of competition are best news story, best sports story, best editorial, best column, best feature story, best interview, best news photograph, best sports photograph, best front page layout, best inside page layout, cartoons, and original art, and over-all improvement.

The intramural basketball season ends tonight with the finals of the post-season tournament.

While press deadlines make it impossible to report who's playing, we can report that the Class A final game is at 6:30 p.m. and the Class B contest at 7:30.

The Gateway ratings changed little from last week's as only the Hawks moved into tenth on the Class A charts while the Bullshooters and the S.O.'s moved into fifth on the Class B top five.

The four-way tie for third in the Class A ratings remains. All four teams won in the last game of the season and so they remain tied.

Of the ten teams rated, eight made it into the tournament. Only the Stompers, who had a tourney berth but declined the invitation, and the Hawks did not see post season action.

The top four teams in Class B all earned tourney spots.

The most unusual route to the tourney was taken by the Raiders. The Raiders, Nets and Papa Joe Boys all tied for second place in the A-3 league with 5-2 records. Only three berths were allotted to the league with first place Indians automatically earning a spot.

With three teams and only two spots, Intramural Director Bert Kurth used a system in which each team picked an envelope. In two of the envelopes were blank pieces of paper while in one the word out was on the paper. Picking the out left one out of the tourney.

Not being lucky, the Raiders picked the envelope with the out in it. But, on Friday they were back in as the Stompers informed Kurth they would not play.

Track Carnival At UNO

The UNO High School Invitational will be held Friday March 23 and Saturday March 24 in the field house. The meet will be the largest high school indoor track meet in Nebraska.

The high schoolers will compete in four field events, five relays and three individual running events. Starting times for the meet will be 5:00 p.m. on Friday, 9:00 a.m. for the pole vault and 1:00 p.m. for the other events on Saturday.

Davis Wants 220 Record

"Track is a year round sport. You put a lot of effort in it year round. I enjoy it otherwise I wouldn't go through all the pain." UNO quarter miler George Davis feels that way about the sport that takes up most of his time.

Davis finished this season winning all but one of fifteen races in the 440 yard dash. The one defeat came during the NAIA championships.

"I had the second best time and I still didn't make it into the finals, I was disgusted. Its who you run against and what lane you get," said Davis of his performance at the national meet.

He did so well in the quarter mile during the indoor season, but he doesn't plan to run it much outdoors.

"I'm going to concentrate more on the 220 and hope that will be my race," said Davis.

Davis likes the shorter distance better, has other goals in mind. "I'd like to get down a time of :20.6 or :20.7 and get an invitation into the AAU and NAIA finals," Davis said.

George, who has been close to getting the UNO indoor record in the 440, has the ability to get the 220 record.

"Roger Sayers owns it. If I could get it that would be a real great feather in my cap," he said. "I think I'll tie it and I've got a good chance of getting it, plus there's always next year."

"I see myself as a team member and do whatever is necessary to win, otherwise, I'm completely an individual. I like individual sports better than team sports because when you lose, you can only blame yourself. When you win, you take all the glory."

Davis graduated from North High school where he was the Metro and State champion in the 440 yard dash. He spent his freshman year at Hastings College where he was a member of their mile relay team which finished fifth in the NAIA. Last year, he transferred to UNO.

As a sophomore, Davis was a member of UNO's national champion mile relay team which won him All-American honors during the indoor season.

He was sidelined during the outdoor season for six weeks with a pulled hamstring but came back to finish ninth in the NAIA in the 440.

Davis, one of the track teams tri-captains, had praise for the coaching and termed it "excellent." He added that, "coaching can only go so far, it comes down to the individual to make the effort to accomplish certain goals. You have to have that never give up attitude."

In the past year the athletic department and track team have improved and they should get better in the future," said George looking at athletics at UNO.

Seeing an expectation of the legislators to okay field house improvements he said, "The field house improvements is inspiring for me and other athletes. I hope it comes through for the benefit of the student body, the athletes and the community."

George, a political science major, hopes to go into law school. "I'm interested in international or corporate law." This is one of his goals he will in all probability reach because of his never give up attitude.

Jon Fox, 6, pumps one up for the third-ranked Nets in regular season intramural play.

Interest and involvement.

One of the keys to the success of the UNO athletic program is to get students interested and involved in the program.

Athletic Director Clyde Biggers knows this.

Right now he is playing with the idea of starting a new division of the Maverick Club called the Drovers.

This division would be made up entirely of students.

"We're more concerned with getting the students involved and interested than in the money," Biggers said.

While still in the planning stage, Biggers said that the division called Drovers in keeping with the western analogy used in the Maverick Club, would require a donation of $5 or under.

This would not bring in a great deal of money into the program. But it would generate student interest.

Watch the Gateway in coming weeks for further news of Biggers' Drovers.

30% of Goal

Biggers also reports that the ultimate goal for the first year of the Maverick Club would be 30 to 40 per cent of the previously announced goal ($100,000).

That would mean Biggers hopes to collect $30,000 to $40,000 in the first year of soliciting donations.

Biggers Seeks Student Involvement

We should be able to reach our goal in three or four years. Right now, we feel it would be a great success if we would hit the 30-40 per cent mark the first year out.

Biggers reports that the leading collection team in the 20 team setup of the Maverick Club is the squad made up of UNO faculty.

Spring Action For Angelo

Injuries are a part of athletics.

Angelo Intile knows this. He is now having to learn how to live with the fact that his shoulder may never be the same as it was before a night in Missouri last September.

On third play from scrimmage against Northwest Missouri State, Intile was a victim of a gridiron fluke.

A broken play and a "just right" hit resulted in a shoulder injury that sidelined the sophomore from Montclair, New Jersey for the remainder of the 1972 season.

Calcium deposits have now formed on the shoulder as a result of the same injury. Baseball has been ruled out this spring for the Mavericks' leading pitcher of last season.

Spring football may also be out of the question.

"I don't know if I'll need to have an operation or not," Angelo says dejectedly. "I have to go back to the doctor around the first of April and I'll know more after that."

Presently, Intile is planning to work with the gridgers on spring drills.

"I think I'll be able to work on my timing, maybe some short passes," he said.

"It's funny, it (the shoulder) doesn't hurt when I throw a football. But when I have to use the whole shoulder (as in pitching), it does."

If healthy, Intile would be competing with Bob Bangston and Jim Laughery for signal calling duties. By the time fall workouts roll around, John Smolsky, one of the Omaha area's top prep quarterbacks, will have entered the picture.

"I guess I'll have to start at the bottom and prove myself all over again," he said.

Miss Baseball

Intile seems bewildered when he talks about his jury.

"I don't know if I started throwing too soon last fall (after the initial injury). This could have aggravated it."

He does know it hurts, sometimes a great deal.

Besides the possibility of having to start on the bottom in a signal callers battle, Angelo is missing this year's promising diamond season.

"These guys could go all the way this year," he said as a hint of dejection again enters his voice.

"I know I'll miss not being out there."

And the Maverick nine will surely miss the contributions that Intile, who led the Mavericks in six important pitching categories last season, would have made this year.
